

From the Archives

Boulders that would serve as a retaining wall holding back the Pacific surf await placement during a construction project along State Route 1 near Sea Cliff, in Ventura County. The photo was taken on a mild day along the Southern California coast, April 1, 1955.

